This Idea of Real Service to the Public is one which we are steadily cultivating in our business

Not simply selling merchandise; not simply "waiting on you" when you buy, but more than that, serving you with the very best line of clothing to be had, Hart, Schaffner & Marx.

You may expect to find here the richest array of new fabrics you've ever seen in men's and youths' clothing. College men and young men are usually the critical buyers of these goods and this is the reason why Hart, Schaffner & Marx are so popular with the public.

The fall line consists of the new London browns, superb grays and various other shades. They are made with the perfect fitting shoulders, the snug fitting collar and the perfect hanging front made by

BROUGHT BACK TO PAY BOARD BILL

A few days ago two young fellows, Tom Bishop and Ed Williams, left the Walker hotel in debt for board. By a sharp ruse Lowery Lea succeeded in finding and capturing them Tuesday night at Weleetka. Ed Williams paid his amount $2.00 there and was released. Tom Bishop was returned to Ada yesterday where he succeeded in making settlement for his board plus the cost. The original bill against him was $5.00 while he had to pay in addition to it cost amounting to $15.90.

Cotton.

Cotton continues to come into the city at the rate of 200 bales per day and today is no exception to the rule. The market stands at about 13 1-4. Seed cotton is being sold from $4.40 to $4.60.

BUCK WALL DIES AT OKLAHOMA CITY

This morning a message reached Mrs. Buck Wall to the effect that her husband was at the point of death at Rolliter's hospital in Oklahoma City. She left immediately on the O. C. train, but a later message to S. M. Torbett stated that Mr. Wall died about 11 o'clock this morning. His death was due to cirrhosis of the liver.

The message to Mrs. Wall this morning was the first intimation that she had of his illness. Mr. Wall had been in western Oklahoma for some weeks managing some library contests and had phoned his wife Friday that he would be at home about Sunday. He did not come but she had been expecting him ever since. He was registered at an Oklahoma City hotel two or three days ago, so it would seem that he was stricken very suddenly.

Deceased came to Ada from Ardmore something more than a year ago and opened the Texas Department store. His business cares were heavy and some months ago his store was closed. No doubt his death was hastened by these business troubles.

Mr. Wall was a man of aggressive temperament and whatever he undertook he threw his whole soul into it. He was a man loyal to his friends and to his town.

To his wife and little children we extend our deepest sympathy.

Ada as An Asphalt Center.

The Ardmore people have been making quite a lot of noise about their asphalt deposits and the shipments of that valuable material. This morning the News man asked Mr. D. A. Herring about the facts in the case. He lived at Ardmore for some time and still owns an interest in a mine there. He states that nothing like the amount of asphalt has been shipped from Ardmore as has gone from Ada. He says the Ada material is fast gaining in popularity and in a short time Ardmore will not be in the same class with Ada.

Damage Suit Being Tried.

This morning the case of J. R. Renison vs. the Frisco railway was taken up and is still in progress. The suit is for alleged personal injury by Myrtle Renison, the plaintiff, who, it is said, was hurt while boarding the train a few months ago.

NO TESTIMONY IN HASKELL CASE

ATTORNEYS SPEND DAY CONFERRING REGARDING RULING OF COURT.

CONVICTION MADE DIFFICULT.

Prosecution Announces It Has No Desire to Cause Needless Expense to Defendants.

McAlester, Ok., Sept. 28.—Attorneys for the government were in conference today for the purpose of determining whether, in view of yesterday's holding by Judge John H. Marshall, presiding in the federal court here, the government would be able to sustain convictions upon the Muskogee town lot indictments.

The preliminary motion made by the defense when the government sought to introduce its first evidence contemplated a revival of demurrers heretofore overruled by Judge Marshall, the defense believing that the Lonabaugh case, since decided by the Eighth Circuit court of appeals, had a decisive effect upon the town lot cases.

Using the Lonabaugh case as a basis for his holding, Judge Marshall informed the government attorneys that they would have to show that the defendants consciously participated in the overt acts alleged, within the statutory period of three years ending May 27, 1909. It was also held that such conspiracies are consummated when the government approves and delivers deed or patent to land, consequently the statute of limitation begins at that time, and nothing done thereafter can be an act, under the holding, in furtherance of the conspiracy. The blanket indictment upon which the government called the cases for hearing charges but five overt acts within the restricted period, being five payments on lots made by Clarence W. Turner of Muskogee, and as viewed tonight, in order to make out its case under the court's holding, the government must not only prove the original conspiracy but that the other defendants were conscious in their participation in the alleged payments, if they participated at all.

Position of Government.

The court held but a brief session today. Mr. Rush, special United States attorney, stated that the first witnesses through whom the government proposed to establish the facts, other than record testimony, would not reach McAlester until tonight, and asked the court to suspend for the day, which was done. "Of course we might proceed to hear the record testimony," stated Mr. Rush, "but in view of the changed situation, in view of the court's ruling yesterday, I think that the time can be better spent investigating the circumstantial evidence with relation to the ruling to determine whether conscious participation on the charges can be established. We desire to ask the court's indulgence during the day to make a thorough investigation, and to talk to the witnesses and we think we will be able to determine the matter at the opening of court tomorrow morning."

Against Unnecessary Expense.

He stated that it was the government's desire to neither incur unnecessary expense, nor cause the defendants to do so, nor occasion a loss of their time if the case could not be sustained.

Tonight the attorneys said they had no statement to make. It is expected after certain witnesses who will arrive tonight are examined, the turn of the prosecution will be determined and announced to the court made in the morning.

PROGRAM FOR THE CONFEDERATE PICNIC

Following is the program that will be rendered Saturday at the Confederate picnic to be held at the city park. The exercises of the day will begin at 9 o'clock Saturday morning and will close sometime in the afternoon. The committee on arrangements extends a cordial invitation to the public to come and bring well filled baskets.

PAVING TOP NOT YET.

Perkington and Thomas, the gentlemen who came in yesterday to put the asphalt top on the paving, returned to Holdenville yesterday afternoon. They stated that they have similar work to do there and since there has been no place secured for the asphalt mill here and since they could do nothing without material they would proceed with their contract at Holdenville, but hoped to have everything in readiness to begin in a few days.

J. W. Hays made a trip to Francis today.

Flies are Like Human Beings

When the nights begin to get cool they like a warm place to stay. This is the season when the flies are most troublesome. They are always watching and when you open the door, dozens of them come in attracted by the warmth of the house. You can catch and get rid of them all with Flistickon—does just what the name indicates—catches them just like sticky fly-paper, only it is so convenient—can hang it up anywhere—doesn't take but little space—no danger of sitting down on it, stepping on it, leaning on it—won't blow over and stick to the furniture. Well worth trying.

We sell above article also Persian Insect Powder, an insect powder and sticky and poison fly-paper.

For sometime past a feeling has prevailed throughout the nation that another panic was impending and the distrust created by certain calamity howling yellow journals have caused many matters to be rather stringent in some places. By this time, however, it is apparent that these fears are groundless. Bountiful crops almost everywhere and good prices are restoring things to their normal condition. There is no difficulty in getting money to move the crops and confidence is being restored. Ada is particularly fortunate in having five strong banking institutions and it is gratifying to know that not a whisper has ever been heard about the stability of any of them. Just now the proceeds of the cotton crop are being applied mostly to the liquidation of debts and not as much money is in circulation as we had hoped for, but in another month we will be getting the benefit of the good prices being paid for the cotton crop. The News sees nothing to be alarmed at and has no faith in the usual knocking of the calamity howlers.

A proud father boasting of the ability of his sons to make good trades declared that on rainy days, when they could do nothing else, his boys would spend the time trading their old clothes to each other, each boy clearing $3.00 on the transactions of a day. However, we are not all as good traders as those boys, and any town that amounts to anything must have some means of bringing in money from the outside. We can never grow very rich trading among ourselves.

Once again we wish to urge our readers to do all in their power to make the Confederate picnic a success. A good program has been arranged for the day, and it will be very discouraging to see a small crowd attending. The city park has been used very little. Many do not seem to know that we have a park.
 This is a fine opportunity to look over the grounds and see just what we have. Above all things, don't forget to bring a well filled basket with you.

GRAND JURY MAKES ITS FINAL REPORT

After a busy session of eight days the grand jury adjourned today shortly after noon. From the following report it will be seen that some good work was done.

Final Report of Grand Jury.

In the District Court in and for Pontotoc County, State of Oklahoma.
 To Hon. Robt. M. Rainey, Judge:
 We, the Grand Jury, duly empaneled and sworn at the present term of court and charged by Your Honor to investigate all violation of law committed and triable in Pontotoc County, Oklahoma, beg leave to submit at this time our final report. We herewith return into open court 18 true bills of which number 13 are for felonies and 5 are for misdemeanors, making a total together with the number of true bills returned in our first, second, third and fourth regular reports of 96 true bills, of which total number 35 are for felonies and 61 are for misdemeanors.

We have been in session 8 days during which time we have had subpoened and examined before us 239 witnesses, and have carefully examined into all violations of law that have come to our knowledge. We have also considered all cases bound over by committing magistrates which have been presented to us and in the case of the State of Oklahoma vs. L.
 L. Mosier we returned no bill.

We have examined the county jail court house and desire to recommend that the old jail be condemned because in our opinion it cannot be kept in a sanitary condition. We recommend that the bed clothing and bedding in the jail be kept in better condition and kept more cleanly, and further that some place be provided for keeping female prisoners.
 We find that the new jail with the above exception is kept in good sanitary condition.

We wish to thank the court for all courtesies shown us during our labors.

We now ask that we be finally discharged. W. H. NETTLES, Foreman.

On behalf of myself and family I desire to thank the good people of Ada for their great kindness to us during the time of illness and death of my wife. We were practically strangers here, but the acts of the Ada people proved that we were not do, and no matter where our lot may be cast we shall all hold in grateful remembrance the help and sympathy extended to us by the citizens of Ada.

Too Much Wealth.

It is a singular fact that the discoverers of the greatest mines generally die poor like the great inventors.

In 1858 in the Ballarat gold diggings in Australia, a nugget of gold was taken out that weighed 2,217 ounces.

It was sold for $52,500.

The discoverer has just died at the age of 74 in the Ballarat Benevolent Asylum as a pauper.

Three years ago he went to the asylum, poor and in ill health and was taken in as a charity patient.

In politics I am an optimist.
 You cannot cast your ballot by proxy.

Government of and for the people is only possible so long as we have government by the people.

We will deserve just as good government as we demand.

The slogan of "more business and less politics" is often the battle cry of the trusts.

McNeal stands firmly planted with the stand-pat element of the republican party.

The Oklahoma constitution stands forth as the model constitution for progressive government.

Education is the implacable foe to oppression in all earth.

The democratic party has given Oklahoma the best educational system ever devised.

A thief is a thief, I care not where nor how he operates, and all thieves should be imprisoned.

The farmers of this republic are its defenders in times of storm and stress, and make possible its unparalleled development in times of peace.

Good schools and good roads go hand in hand with good government.

When elected governor I shall surround every honest man and every honest corporation with the protection of our laws.

The per capita cost of state government in Oklahoma is the least of any state of equal size in the union.

Government by the people is impossible with the election crook at sway. Put him in the penitentiary.

McNeal is the tool of the railroads and made affidavit in their favor and against the two-cent rate.

The laboring man has more protection under the constitution and statutes of Oklahoma than under the laws of any state in the union.

A FACT PROVEN.

Should Convince Even the Most Skeptical of Its Truth.

If there is the slightest doubt in the minds of any that Dandruff germs do not exist, their belief is compelled by the fact that a rabbit inoculated with the germs became bald in six weeks' time.
 It must be apparent to any person therefore that the only prevention of baldness is the destruction of the germ—which act is successfully accomplished in one hundred per cent. of cases by the application of Newbro's Herpicide.
 Dandruff is caused by the same germ which causes baldness and can be prevented with the same remedy—Newbro's Herpicide.

ADS PEROXIDE CREAM

For those particular people who desire a beautiful complexion and who want to keep the skin at its best all the time—keep it clear, flexible, smooth and give it the glow of health—there is nothing as good as A. D. S. Peroxide Cream, because it contains a small quantity of Hydrogen Peroxide, the great antiseptic healing and cleansing agent.
 Its action upon a red, blotched, pimply, scaly, unsightly skin is very pronounced.

When used as a massage it has a tendency to eradicate wrinkles and to nourish the tissues. It is a mild bleach—perfectly harmless and will not grow hair.

This is one of the leading preparations made by the American Druggists Syndicate, which is composed of 12,000 responsible druggists, and it is but one of the famous A. D. S.
 Peroxide Family.

The others—equally as good, equally as beneficial and just as popular—are A. D. S. Peroxide Tooth Powder, which whitens, cleanses and preserves the teeth;
 A. D. S. Peroxide Tooth Paste for the same purpose, put up in a different form; A. D. S. Peroxide Soap, a very superior soap because it heals as well as cleanses; A. D.
 S. Peroxide Foot Powder, for tired, aching, burning feet, and last, but by no means of least importance, is A. D. S. Peroxide of Hydrogen, the great disinfectant and germicide now being used in so many homes.

ILLINOIS DEMOCRATS GAINING GROUND

Chicago, Ill., Sept. 23.—Chicago democrats polled nearly 20,000 more votes at the primaries of 1910 than at the similar election in 1908. The republicans polled more than 100,000 less than in 1908.

These surprising figures were unearthed today in the records of the offices of the election commissioners.
 The total primary vote of the four parties that had ballots submitted Sept. 15 was 176,843.

Republicans who had been indulging in jubilation because their party polled more votes this year than did the democrats were thrown into consternation when the final figures showing their own huge loss and the gain of their rivals became public.

COURT HEARS ARGUMENTS FOR NEW TRIAL IN NUTT CASE

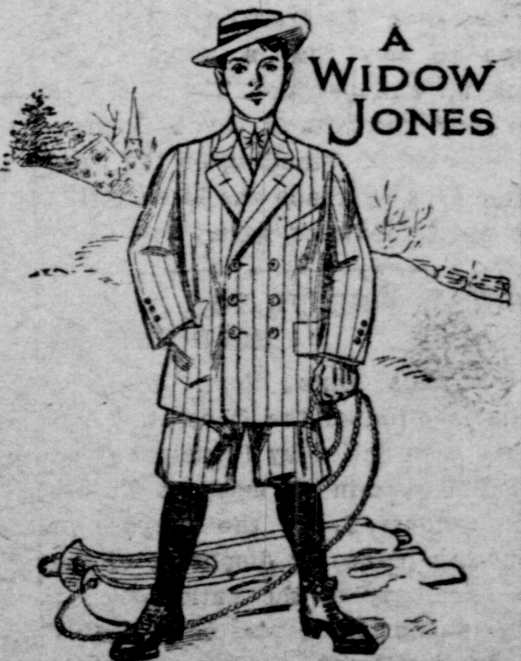

A night session of court was held yesterday to give the attorneys in the Nutt case an opportunity to present their arguments for a new trial. Judge Boien argued at some length on a paragraph in the court's instructions which he alleged was contradictory and therefore fatally defective. Judge McKeown argued that the instructions regarding manslaughter were insufficient. Robert Wimbish presented the state's side of the case and the court took the matter under advisement. He will probably pass on the motion this evening or tomorrow.

Nutt looks somewhat the worse for his long confinement, and his face has a care-worn look that shows he is feeling the effects of the strain.

A car of cotton seed on the Katy billed for Denison on Tuesday night contained some live stock so it was discovered a few moments after the car was sealed.

The employees had hurriedly sealed the car, and the train was already in motion when they heard a gentle tapping on the door and a plaintive voice of a coon calling, "Say, boss, O Boss," but it was too late, he was already journeying on a free and unmolested trip to Denison.

CITY TRIES SECOND CASE UNDER BOOZE ORINANCE

J. E. Howe, who boards at Mrs. Geo. Culver's on 12th street was arrested this morning by Chief of Police R. N. Hounshell on a charge of selling whisky.

He was arraigned for trial in police court this afternoon and plead not guilty.

Chief Hounshell was placed on the stand and testified that he made the arrest this morning in front of Jack Conner's blacksmith shop and that two half pints of whiskey which was later introduced as evidence were taken from the defendant in the city court room. The chief stated that he had watched the defendant make several trips to and fro from Andy Morris' restaurant to Conner's shop.

Mrs. Culver stated that Howe boards at her house and that he made several trips between the shop and the Rock barn or some place on the otherside each time bringing whiskey back when he came from the direction of the barn and going back empty handed when he came from the direction of the shop, and that he, Howe, said he was taking it to some friends.

Mrs. George, Mrs. Culver's mother, corroborated her daughter's testimony.

R. L. Zumbro an employe at the shop stated that Howe had opened up the place this morning, but had no worked simply passed around and through the shop and that he Zumbro had not seen him with any whisky.

Conner himself stated that Howe was employed at the shop and had been sent several times to Haynes' Hardware after material and would pass through or around the Rock barn of necessity.

After hearing the evidence Judge Power stated that although he intended to do what he could to break up the selling of liquor in Ada, and would assess the full penalty whenever possible, he did not consider the evidence in this case sufficient to warrant a conviction. He therefore discharged the defendant with a warning.

Prof. J. W. Pharr is attending the normal until his school opens. He will teach the Cedar Grove school, east of Francis this term. Prof. Pharr is one of the most experienced teachers in the county.

Western Coach's Interpretation of Revised Rules Does Not Abolish the Flying Tackle—Forward Pass Better

BY EDWARD W. COCHRANE

When the football committee revised the rules, its sole purpose was to make the game less dangerous. Many institutions of learning in the United States had abolished the game. A big death list last fall was the cause. Later they reinstated it because of the new rules. It is certain that if football proves as dangerous this fall under the revised rules there will be just two things to do next year. One will be to go back to the old game, which they will probably not do, because of the danger in mass plays and the other to adopt English rugby and abolish American football.

For my part, I am not in favor of English rugby and hope the American game can be maintained, but with less deaths and injuries than we had a year ago. But the game cannot be maintained unless officials and coaches interpret the rules correctly and in a manner in which the dangerous elements of the game can be eliminated. In my judgment the coaches and officials of the Western conference, who recently met, discussed the rules and made decisions on what shall and shall not be allowed under the new code, made one or two mistakes.

The most serious, I believe, is regarding the flying tackle. Their decision on this subject was:

"Although a player when tackling an opponent must have one foot on the ground, both feet may be off the ground after the tackler touches his opponent."

"The rule prohibiting the flying tackle shall not be interpreted as preventing defensive players from diving into the interference. A player, however, makes a diving tackle when he throws himself at an unprotected player in the open field."

This interpretation of the rule does not exactly abolish the flying tackle—the most dangerous play in football. More players were injured or killed by the flying tackle last year than any other play in the game. Cadet Byrne's death at West Point was due to the flying tackle.

The new rule says that a player must have one foot on the ground when tackling. They claim he may have both feet off the ground after he touches the opponent. Therefore it is not necessary for a player to more than merely touch the clothing of an opponent, after which he can dive on into him with both feet into the air. Possibly the Western officials did not mean for the player to do this, but under their decision he can, and the officials will be helpless to penalize him for so doing. Thus the Western conference decision makes the work harder for officials than the rules committee made it in this one particular.

The next decision is that the rule shall not prevent an opposing player from diving into the interference. Take that as it reads, it is nothing more than a diving tackle, or a dive into the interference, which is just as dangerous as a flying tackle in open field, or more so, because the diver hits a mass of bodies instead of one, and is in more danger of being injured. I believe the rule should read, "In no instance shall a player dive into the interference." Diving head long into one man or a dozen is a dangerous act and until it is abolished entirely football will be dangerous.

If Western football officials do not modify this decision they will practically allow the same game as was played last year, because they will allow the flying tackle in only a slightly modified form, which the player can turn into a hard diving tackle. And diving into interference, which was so dangerous last fall.

This is why coaches in the West, including the able Hollenback of Missouri, claim that the game is changed but little. The fact of the matter is the rules committee did not define its changes clearly to force officials and coaches to interpret them in such a manner that the dangerous element will be done away with, which is shown by the decisions of Western coaches.

When Walter Camp said the danger in football had not been eliminated he was right, although some of the dangerous features have, if the rules will be lived up to as they are interpreted by the revision committee. For instance, take the rule which says a man shall not be pushed or pulled through the line. That is the best thing the committee did. It practically abolishes line bucks, as a man must go alone in making a plunge through the line, and with no help he will not be very successful.

ful. It makes end runs popular and thus a more open game.

In the old days, when the flying wedge and such plays were in vogue reformers claimed they were too dangerous because so many men were injured in trying to break up the wedge. That was true. It was a dangerous play. At that time a single man would dive into a mass of men and try to get the runner. Under the new rule a single man will dive into the line and try to make a gain. Therefore, instead of a mass of men hitting a single man in the old days, it is just reversed now—a single man hits a mass of men. It is easy to see that it is almost as dangerous as the old style.

I do not mean to say the revised rules have not done away with some dangerous features of the game. They have done wonders in this respect, but they will have to do more revising before all the real dangerous element is abolished. But we do not want a game of ping pong, we want football. My argument is that the rules should be so revised and enforced that enough danger will be eliminated to save the game from death at the hands of reformers.

Last season the forward pass was a freak. This season it will be a very useful play. This is made possible by changes in the football rules, which have lightened the penalty for failure to catch the forward pass, and the rule which prevents a player from tackling an opponent before the catch is made, but allows the opponent to try for the catch.

The penalty used to be a loss of fifteen yards on first and second downs and loss of the ball on third. This was too severe. Teams would not try this play, especially in important games, for fear of losing the ball every time they attempted it, because a set back of fifteen yards from the line of scrimmage meant almost sure loss of the ball unless some player should make a phenomenal run on the next down or two, which happened seldom.

Under the new rule the forward pass can be made from five yards back of the scrimmage line and can cross the line at any point, but cannot be caught more than twenty yards beyond the scrimmage line, making it a short, snappy pass, easy to handle. The penalty for failure is just the down, with the ball returned to its starting point. By this a team can try it twice, loss both times and then only have ten yards to gain on the final down. In the old game, if it were tried twice and lost both times, the distance to gain on the final down would be forty yards. This was entirely too much. That is why the forward pass was not used to any great extent last year in important games. Reports of games read, "the teams resorted to old style football." Certainly. Because the forward pass was a freak and not a useful play.

The rule which provides that a player on the opposing team can interfere with a player in attempting to catch a forward pass, but can attempt the catch himself, is important and will increase interest in this play, making the game more spectacular, which was the aim of the football doctors.

Last season many players were injured by being interfered with while trying to make a catch of a forward pass. When a man is in the act of catching a football in the air he is in such a position that it is an easy matter for a diving tackler to injure him. For this reason many players feared the forward pass. They fear it to such an extent, after the grim reaper had reaped a harvest off the gridiron by this play, that they were nervous in making the catch and the numerous fumbles, which made the play look ridiculous. As it is now, a great many of these fumbles will be eliminated, because men will not fear being hurled to the ground without a chance to protect themselves from injury. They will be free to make the catch and cannot be tackled until after the catch is made.

The fact that the opponent can try for the catch makes the play faster and better. Under such conditions the side making the catch forward pass will be accurate in throwing and catching it to avoid allowing the opponent possession of the ball. The pass will therefore be snappy, fast and short, giving the receiver a chance to catch the ball and get a start before his opponents can break through the interference and down him.

The forward pass, will, therefore, be far more interesting than last season and in my opinion it will prove a better play. It will be worked more successfully in the East than in the West, but in both sections it will be mastered if eleven are properly coached. The new rule also gives more room for trick plays with the forward pass, as well as others.

ROOSEVELT PLATFORM A DISAPPOINTMENT

vent's political control of the New York organization with possibilities of defeat or compromise that the fight involves as essential to the cause of the progressive movement.

Their position has been that Col. Roosevelt could greatly help the movement by espousing its cause, but that he could only hinder, and not kill it, by lining up with the reactionaries. The progressives consider their cause as a moral wave that is greater than any individual man identified with it, and, therefore, not dependent upon the support of any one man for its development.

Platform Interpreted.
The first alarm that the progressives felt over trouble from Col. Roosevelt was when he spoke at Syracuse, and he was then criticised on "speaking in the East as he did in the West." Their interpretation of the Saratoga platform is that he is determined to carry New York for the republican party next November by a combination of a strong gubernatorial candidate and a consolidation platform on national issues that endorsed the very thing which gave the great impetus to the progressive movement in the west.

How About Beveridge?
Further developments of Col. Roosevelt's connection with the Washington progressive movement will be one of the interesting movements of the near future. He is scheduled to go into Indiana, to make a strong fight for Senator Beveridge, Senator Beveridge fought the excessive schedules of the Payne-Aldrich tariff and voted against the passage of the bill. He dominated the Indiana State convention in opposition to the tariff and jubilantly telegraphed to his progressive colleague in the senate that he had "kicked the epidermis off the tariff."

How the dominator of or any subscriber to the Saratoga platform, with its indorsement of the Payne-Aldrich tariff, will defend the Indiana Senator, who denounced and voted against that tariff and then went home and "kicked the epidermis off" that same tariff, will be watched with interest by certain progressives in Iowa, Kansas and Wisconsin.

TO ABANDON FIGHT ON GRANDFATHER CLAUSE

Oklahoma City, Sept. 28.—It is announced from an authoritative source that Jim Harris, republican state chairman, has concluded to continue his fight for state ticket without regard to the negro vote. This is another way of saying that the republicans concede that the grandfather clause amendment is constitutional and can not be successfully attacked in the courts.

This change of attitude will necessitate a general change in the plans of the state committee. Foreseeing that the democratic administration was not sufficiently vulnerable to guarantee the swinging of enough democratic votes to elect McNeal, Harris set about early on a plan to test the grandfather clause. That plan contemplated the securing of a federal court injunction immediately prior to the election November 8 and the stationing of deputy marshals at the voting places on election day to see that the injunction was not violated.

It has developed that the negroes are unwilling to take any such chances. "We would have to fight our way to the polls," said one of the negro leaders, "and the vote solely for the sake of a republican machine, is not worth the sacrifice. The grandfather clause is a part of the constitution and no sane negro should attempt to violate it so long as it is a law. We were deceived by Harris when we held a convention at Boley. We were given to understand that our contributions ($10,000 was asked of the negroes of the state) were for the purpose of contesting the grandfather clause, but when we met Bill Chappell told us it was for the purpose of electing Joe McNeal governor. The intelligent negroes of Oklahoma will not stand for another deception."

A member of the state republican central committee brought word to Weleetka that Chairman Harris had concluded to give up his fight against the grandfather clause amendment.

It spread rapidly among the negroes and general dissatisfaction among them is expressed. Many of them are planning to leave the state as soon as their crops are gathered. Being, for the most part, tenants, their baggage is always portable. The cotton crop is practically all that holds them. Some of them, especially the intelligent leaders, favor the "Back to Africa" movement. "One of the greatest movements in the history of modern civilization could be started in Oklahoma," said one of them, "if the intelligent negroes would offer to lead the intelligent negroes of the nation into the heathen lands of Africa for colonization and missionary purposes. A nation of negroes, progressing in the light of the twentieth century civilization, would be a spectacle unprecedented in the history of mankind."

REVIVAL AT THE CHRISTIAN CHURCH

Last evening Rev. Leroy Anderson addressed a good sized congregation on the subject, "How May I Know I am Saved?" This subject is one of especial interest to the doubting ones and the minister handled it logically and well. The subject for this evening's discourse will be "How Shall We Escape?"

Last evening he said in part:

On this subject many are confounded. Various conceptions as to what are the conditions of salvation and the babel of preachments serve to disturb. But we may know. God in dealing with the human family, does not give an ambiguous plan of salvation. In the matter of analyzing, the inductive method is employed if the truth is arrived at. No conclusion is right unless it embraces all the facts. In the matter of salvation there are two sides, the divine and human. On the side of God the forces that operate to salvation are mercy. Titus 2:3; life of Christ, Rom. 5:10; gospel, Rom. 1:16; blood, Col. 1:14; grace, Eph. 2:8. This is the feast to which mankind is invited. They may accept or reject. This is the glory or tragedy of will in the matter. Salvation does not come to us by an involuntary act as sound to the ear or light to the eye. It must be appropriated. Man's side in his salvation is here exercised. In the New Testament some eight things are ascribed to man's salvation on his side as his part in the matter of appropriating. The conclusion reached must include all if our salvation is to be a matter beyond a doubt. It is foolishness to appeal to any other source than God's word. Our salvation stands or falls on this and our complete obedience to it. We have no right to ascribe our salvation to faith alone or works alone or to any part of the whole. The things man is commanded to do in order to salvation are faith, Acts 16:31; repentance Luke 13:5; faith and confession, Rom. 10:9; baptism, I Peter 3:20; hope, Rom. 8:24; obedience, Heb. 5:9; works, Phil. 2:12.

After all has been done by man on his part he still stands a sinner saved by grace. Salvation is a legacy, grace, mercy. It is not on the basis of exchange. I meet the conditions of a will in order to get what my benefactor left me, but I never once think I have earned it. I always consider it a gift. It's the same in salvation. There is no conflict in the question "What must I do to be saved," and the statement "by grace are ye saved." Personal merit, self-righteousness, etc., are as "filthy rags." We must lean on the arms of the infinite. Accept him who is righteousness, wisdom, redemption and sanctification.

God's grace was manifested through the Christ. It was an unspeakable gift. It was the just suffering for the unjust. God's chain of salvation has been let down, it is man's escape for the reaching. The fruit on the boughs hangs so low that a pauper may reach up and partake. Thank God a man may know he is saved—a present tense affair. Standing on the word of God he may reach the latch string that opens heaven's gate.

CHOCTAW COUNCIL TO HOLD SESSION

Tuskahoma, Okla., Sept. 28.—The annual session of the Choctaw council has been called by Principal Chief Green McCurtain to meet at Tuskahoma October 3, for the purpose of discussing plans for disposing of the tribal property of the nation.

The McCurtain contracts probably will be condemned, since the chief has gone on record against them, although a lively fight may take place. The Indians are practically a unit in their demand for an early disposition of the property, but they are divided as to the manner of disposition.
